JUSTICE & PEACE GROUP FOR THE PARISH

To a newcomer, St Ignatius looks like the parish that has everything – except a Justice and Peace group! Which isn't remarkable, as less than half the parishes in Westminster Diocese have a Justice and Peace representative, and only about a tenth of the parishes have working groups. All the same, we are the sort of parish where you would expect to find one – Jesuit (an order which has undertaken Justice and Peace work throughout its history), a lot of active parishioners, and obviously multi-national.

Pope Francis frequently refers to Justice and Peace issues as part of the Church's mission. His concern, of course, comes from his personal experience both as a Jesuit and as an archbishop in South America, but he is very clear about the need to apply this part of the Gospel in whatever part of the world we live.

Many parishioners will remember Fr James Conway SJ, now working in Guyana, who was here not so long ago. He was deeply into this part of the Church's work, in particular running language classes for non-English speaking immigrants. He also worked with the Jesuit Refugee Service, now based in Wapping.

There will be a kick-off meeting at 7.15pm on Friday the 3rd of March in the Presbytery, with luck attended by Barbara Kentish, co-ordinator of the diocesan Justice and Peace Commission which is based at St John Vianney Church, West Green. You don't need to have any experience of Justice and Peace work, but obviously, we'll need at least a handful of people who are good at organising things. And (without being ageist) younger parishioners will be particularly welcome. If you're old enough for Confirmation, you're old enough for this way of practising your faith.

I shall be speaking very briefly about this after every Mass next weekend.

PARISH ITEMS AND EVENTS

The Parish Council Report: We had a Parish Council Meeting on the 15th of February and, among others, the following issues were discussed:

Chapel Renovation – part of the church roof has been repaired and is awaiting inspection. When this has been completed we hope to get quotes for the redecoration of the chapel.

24 Hours for the Lord – We hope to have another 24 Hours for the Lord, but later in the year as Lent is already full of other parish events.

Prayer Service to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the apparitions of Our Lady at Fatima We hope to organise this as a multi-lingual prayer service with English, Polish and Spanish-speaking participants. The date for this will be as close to the Feast Day of Our Lady of Fatima as possible.

The Year for Couples & Families – The summary of the questionnaires given at all Masses was discussed and the prayer cards were appreciated. Some possible suggestions of what might be done in the parish as a result were asked to be passed on to the YfC&F Planning Group.

The establishment of a Justice & Peace group in the Parish by Fr David Ardagh-Walter was thought to be a very good idea and Fr. David Smolira S.J. is also keen to re-establish a St Vincent de Paul group to develop the social outreach ministry of the parish.

The parish Council meets again on Wednesday, 5th of April. If you have any matter that you would like raised, please speak to Mathew D'Souza, the chair of the Council.
